ancouverites Not Interested in the Case-Johnston's Case Discontinued. Cranstoun and Muller Working in a Big Lumber Company Up North.

E. P. Davis, Q. C., of Vancouver, British Columbia, and wife are guests at the Hawaiian Hotel. Mr. Davis, it will be remembered, is the attorney sent here by the Canadian and Australian Steamship Co. to take testimony in the suit of Cranstoun and Muller for receiving them aboard the steamship Warrimoo against their respective and individual wills when the Government decided to send them away after the January riots. For this breach of etiquette and international law the men ask damages in all formally opened yesterday with great ceremony by the King of Roumania.

The bridge with its approaches is 3628 metres (nearly 4000 yards) in length, and the highest point above the level of the river is 30 metres (about 95 feet). The structure is regarded as one of the engineering trigrounds on which they ask damages, due to the relationship between the C. P. R. and the steamer company. Mr. Davis' knowledge of the case for which his firm are attorneys is limited to rumors and a few documents which he had access to at Vancouver: he has seen none of the testimony taken here and upon which was based the grounds for deporting the men. Yesterday he called informally on Minister Hatch and Mr. W. A. Kinney; today he will probably get down to business but the taking of testimony for his clients, by the marshal will not begin until Monday.

Speaking of the case Mr. Davis said: "There are only two men in the suit now, Cranstoun and Muller. Johnson's case was discontinued through his neglect or inability to furnish security for the costs. This however does not imply a dropping of the case altogether; if he wishes to, he can bring it up again at any time by paying or furnishing security for the costs up to the time of discontinuance. The impression prevails at Vancouver that the little money Johnson has is being used by the other two in pressing their suit and his action will depend entirely upon the outcome of the others."

In response to the question as to how the case would be tried he re-

"A case of this character always goes before a special jury and it is no doubt from this fact that the suit is brought. From what I have learned, and without being prejudiced in favor of my clients, I cannot see the slight-est grounds for bringing it, but one can never tell the result of a lawsuit. No! the fact of Vancouver being a British colony will have no effect rived here I have heard that many of the British residents here are not in accord with your Government, if this the case it would New York Central has again broken be natural for the people here the record for fast time. This morn to get the impression that the Muller, because upon this suit will probably depend their case against your Government for damages. I can assure you," continued Mr. Davis, "that politics will not enter the case at all. As a matter of fact, the people in Vancouver rarely discuss the political situation of Hawaii and very few of them take enough interest in your affairs to discuss them. You your affairs to discuss them. You one up there, but it hasn't; people do not care enough about it, and I have never heard it talked about by any but a few solicitors, who are naturally interested in everything which savors

As to the character of the men in this case, I know very little of them; just before I left Johnson returned from England, whither he had gone ceive a State funeral and President Faure will attend.

The Mombassa Revolt.

ZANZIBAR, Oct. 3.—Eighty British tars burned the rebel camp at Mombassa. The chief, Mbarua account regarding his case, and Muller and Cranstoun were working for the British Columbia Mills, Timber and Trading Company. We hear very little of them; they are there now and will probably remain until the case is decided, which will probably be in London. regarding his case, and Muller and until the case is decided, which will probably be in January.
